Students choosing what to buy with their "jetons" at the PBIS store on Friday, and keeping their leftover coins for next time.

A fun store at school to reward good behavior

Students this week got to enjoy reaping the benefits of their good behavior in class by using their "jetons" to purchase candy, trinkets, coloring sheets, toys, and stickers in our PBIS store.

Each child gets 3 coins a day, and collects them over the weeks until we have a store day. Those who pay attention in class, follow directions, do their work, etc. end up with the most "jetons." Prices start at 5 "jetons" for a pencil or candy, and increase to 10, 15, 25, 35, 50, 75, and finally 100 for the really big prizes like a poppit unicorn, or a coupon to come to school dressed as a favorite princess or superhero, or in any other favorite costume. They can choose to buy smaller items, or to save up for the big ones.

Uniform Reminder

Some children are still wearing white or navy uniform shirts. By next week, we'd like to see all students in our official school uniform of a hunter green polo shirt. These are now available at two places in Opelousas, Arc and Tikey T's. Tikey also does the optional school logo embroidery.

Individual School Photos

Don't forget we will be having individual school photos taken here at school on Wednesday, September 22. The same professional photographer who does most of the school photos in the area will be bringing his equipment to photograph each of our students.

Please make sure your child is present on this day so he/she doesn't miss out. This is a free dress day, so children should come dressed in their favorite clothes to look extra cute for their school pictures. These will be the same photos we use for our yearbook photos.

You'll soon be receiving pre-order packets from Pety Photography in your take-home packets, but you can also order them after the photo shoot if you prefer to see the photos first.

No school for students on September 24th

Please remember that École Saint-Landry will be closed to students on Friday, September 24th, when our teachers will be in Baton Rouge for training.

Parents can learn French too!

Classes are almost full, and your last chance to register is Wednesday, September 15th. Alliance Française de Lafayette offers this special opportunity to parents of French Immersion students.

The class will be taught by French Immersion teacher Jean-Philippe Jeannerot, and will focus on French vocabulary used in the classroom so you can help your child at home and follow along! The sessions will be 8 weeks long, and start the week of September 20.

No membership required for this class.

Minimum : 5 students
Maximum: 8 students

Mondays 6:00 pm-7:00 pm

Introducing the Lions of the Week

School spirit is all about doing your best every day to make sure your school is the best one around, and everyone has his or her own part to play! For our teachers, it's making sure your children are safe, happy, and confident so they continue learning every day.

For our administrators, it's ensuring that the teachers have everything they need to do their jobs, welcoming the children in the morning and helping them get their transportation in the afternoons, helping you manage check-ins and check-outs and doctor's excuses, and keeping everything running as smoothly as possible.

For you parents and guardians, it's getting your children to bed early so they're not too tired in class, getting to school on time so as not to disrupt classes, making sure they have everything they need for school, including spare uniforms left with their teachers and clean masks.

But the students have the biggest jobs of all! They are sitting and working hard all day. Those who do the best job of listening to their teachers, studying hard so they know the right answers, not talking out of turn, being polite to their teachers and kind to their classmates, raising their hands instead of shouting answers, and getting to school regularly and on time are the ones who become spokespeople for the school. Each week we will choose one Kindergartener and one 1st grader who uphold these principles to be the Lion of the Week.

Les mots doux de la semaine

"Maci is enjoying her new school. She likes Ms. Connie and Madame Maggie. As a parent I like the media tools and the daily information posts. I also appreciate the school offering after care, and most of all the bus transportation."
